

Watch out locals the Gassies are coming to Albury Gass Winter Camp 2003

July 7-11 @ Lake Hume Resort

The biggest advert on the GASS calendar, the one that you just can't miss is this year to be held at Lake Hume Resort in Albury Wodonga. A camp with loads of space and the over look of the lake what more could you want besides the company excitement and entertainment of the GASS community. Behold the adventures of national wildlife (in which you can feed the animals), great town fun, and discovering the great Australian idols like Ned Kelly not to mention catching up with and assonating old mates and competing in our annual big footy game, which separates the kangaroos from the wallabies.

Time- Monday 7th July- Friday 11th July. Departing from the bus bays on Eddy Ave, Central station be there 8:30am for a 9:00 departure on Monday, returning late Friday afternoon

Cost- $125for hosts, $180 for GASSies and subsequent host siblings. We'll be stopping for lunch on the bus journeys to and from the camp, so either bring a packed lunch or purchase some food when we stop. It's also not a bad idea to take some change in case you feel the need to splurge during the week. The above prices include transport, accommodation, activities and all other food for the week.

Kleider- besides the norms please bring:

- ⌘ Bedding; sleeping bag or doona and sheet + pillow
- ⌘ An old set of clothes under the pretence that gassies usually get dirty at some stage
- ⌘ Cold weather gear. It's quite possible it'll be pretty cold considering its winter and we will be in Albury so coats, wet weather gear, scarf etc would be appropriate.
- ⌘ Costume for final night party – this years theme Endless summer

Fun stuff for free time – cards, board games, balls, CD's etc. your music makes the final night part a lot more fun.
